

JUNE 17, 2022 - JUNE 19, 2022

RIDLEY CREEK STATE PARK, PA

PHILOSOPHY IN THE WILD

Registration opens May 1 at bit.ly/3rgJ2B3

Keynote: Romy Opperman

Speakers: Caitlin Fitchett, James Garrison, Kate Nicole Hoffman, Karen Houle, Sam Kellogg, Suzanne McCullagh, Arthur Obst, Alessandro Ramón Moscarítólo Palacio, Vincent Del Prado, Nisha Poyyaprath Rayaroth

Organizers: Zachary Agoff, Mike Gadomski, Maja Sidzińska

Funded by: Greater Philadelphia Philosophy Consortium

SCHEDULE

FRIDAY JUNE 17TH

3:00pm	Check In
6:00pm	Dinner
7:00pm	Welcome
7:30pm	Karen Houle (Guelph) & Suzanne McCullagh (Athabasca), “Environmental Philosophizing with Worms”

SATURDAY JUNE 18TH

8:00am	Breakfast
9:00am	Hike (optional)
10:00am	Arthur Obst (U of Washington), “Wilderness and the Question of Intellectual Humility”
11:00am	Caitlin Fitchett (Harvard), “Geoengineering, Indigenous Conceptions of the Value of Nature, and Public Discourse”
12:00pm	Alessandro Ramón Moscarítólo Palacio (Hamilton), “Forging a New Relationship with Nature: Lessons from the Indigenous Philosophy of Abya Yala-the Americas”
1:00pm	Lunch (with worms)
2:30pm	James Garrison (Baldwin Wallace), “The Trolley Problem... In Space! (Spoiler: Humans Are the Trolley)”
3:30pm	Kate Nicole Hoffman (Penn), “Nature from Whose Perspective? Nature-based Solutions and Artificial Analogs”
4:30pm	Break
5:00pm	Keynote Romy Opperman (The New School), “‘Bury Me in a Free Land’: Grounding Abolition Ecology”

SUNDAY JUNE 19TH

8:00am	Breakfast
9:00am	Hike (optional)
10:00am	Nisha Poyyapraph Rayaroth (Yale), “The Journeys of Elephants”
11:00am	Vincent Del Prado (U of Cinn), “The Loss of Autarkeia and the Problem of Meaning in the Age of Smartphone Technology
12:00pm	Sam Kellogg (NYU), “Despoiling the Wild: Wilderness, Technology, and the Ideal of Communication”
1:00pm	Lunch
3:00pm	Check Out

JUNE 17 - JUNE 19, 2022

RIDLEY CREEK STATE PARK, PA